

In order to buy equipment and other items for the QEOM Hospital we have to raise funds

We do this in a number of ways:

1. Donations from individuals hopefully all gift aided where possible to increase our income by 25%.
2. Bequests. Please consider a legacy to QEOMH LOF which is a registered charity. Your solicitor will advise you how to do this and take advantage of possible tax benefits.
3. Run an event for us through your club, school or pub, e.g. A quiz, concert night, dinner dance etc.
4. Donations in lieu of flowers in memory of a loved one at a funeral. Your funeral director can advise you.
5. LOF also runs our own fundraising events. See Facebook or website for information on our next events.

All Donations all gratefully received

On behalf of our committee and the patients in QEOM Hospital, I would like to thank you all for supporting our fundraising events and with your donations. We also continue to run (totally with unpaid volunteers) the Shop near Outpatients.

Fund raising is achieved in a wide variety of ways and many money-raising events take place throughout the year. It is difficult at times for the National Health Service to meet the cost of all new requirements and, as the League is fully supportive of all new methods of treatment that would benefit the local community, it is essential that it maintains its fund raising activities.

Thank you

Chairman

You may have heard about the "East Kent Hospitals Charity". This is a different charity to the League of Friends with the aim of raising funds for all hospitals across the Trust. Any donations made to the QEOM League of Friends goes straight to the QEOM hospital, and donors can even specify the ward or department where their donation is spent.

Did you know?

On average, the League of Friends raises around £35,000 each year, thanks to the generosity of the local community. This enables the QEOM to have equipment and facilities which would not otherwise be available. In turn, this enables patients and visitors alike to be treated in a comfortable and safe environment.
